New York	State		IRC/IBC	Yes	Yes	New York State Department of State Division of Code Enforcement and Administration One Commerce Plaza 99 Washington Ave. Albany, NY 12231 (518) 474-4073	5/24/11	On April 1, 2010 the Building Code Council voted to adopt the 2008 I-Codes. The Building Code is amended to reference the 2008 NEC. The IRC is amended by replacing Part VII-Electrical Provisions (05 NEC) with the 2009 IRC Part VII. (08 NEC). NYC is exempt. The 2011 NEC is currently under review.
North Carolina	State		2008 Adopted - 3/11/08 Implemented - 6/1/08 2011 NEC A-4/1/2011 Now not expecting implementation W 2012 at the earliest.	Yes	No		7/8/11	The 2011 NEC was adopted April 21, 2011 by a unanimous vote of the North Carolina Building Code Council after much delay by the Chairmen of the Building Code Council, Dan Tingen, and the home builders group. Implementation was set for September 1, 2011, however 11 letters of protest were filed by June 21, 2011 and now the matter has to go to the NC legislature with the closest implementation now being in 2012 as the NC legislature will not meet in 2012. However, an appeal has been made to the Governor by the State Electrical Contractors Licensing Board.
North Dakota	State		2008 A - 4/1/2008 I - 4/1/2008 2011 NEC Effective date 9/1/11	2006	Not Adopted	North Dakota State Electrical Board 1626 N Washington St., Suite A-1 P.O. Box 7335 Bismarck, ND 58507-7335	5/23/11	2011 NEC effective date Sept 1, 2011

Oklahoma	State Adoption - But Local adoption is allowed		2008 Adopted - 9/1/08 Implemented - 11/15/08	2009 A-5/27/11 I-7/1/11	Yes	Construction Industries Board 4201 NW 23rd, Suite #5 Oklahoma City, OK 73107 Main Phone: 405-271-5217 Toll Free: 877-484-4424	7/8/11	A newly appointed review Committee began review of the 2011 NEC on June 20, 2011 for all except 1 & 2 family dwellings. State has already adopted the 2009 IRC with electrical chapters 33-42 being applicable for dwellings.
Oregon	State		2011 Adopted - 1/1/11 Implemented - 4/1/11	Oregon does not adopt the IRC. The State has developed a "Low-rise residential code" covering dwelling construction up through 3 floors, including multi-family	The State has adopted the regulations in the current edition of the residential NEC to the low-rise residential code.	The Building and Construction Division of the Department of Consumer & Business Services adopts construction codes. The Electrical & Elevator Board adopts electrical codes except for residential. The Residential Structures Board adopts all residential codes, including electrical, which is included in the Oregon Low-Rise Residential Code.	6/1/11	Oregon developed its own "Low-Rise Residential Code" to cover all dwellings up to 3 stories, including electrical. The electrical requirements are based on NFPA 70A and have been harmonized to the 2011 Edition of NFPA 70. The Electrical & Elevator Board adopts the code by rule. http://www.cba.state.or.us/cabod/programs.html
Pennsylvania	State		2009 ICC Codes NEC by reference in BC Adopted - 12/10/09 Implemented - 1/1/10	Yes	Yes	PA Department of Labor & Industry Room 1700 651 Boas Street Harrisburg, PA 17121 717-787-5279	5/24/11	On April 25, 2011, Pennsylvania Governor Tom Corbett signed into law a measure repealing a requirement that sprinklers be included in new one- and two-family homes built in the Commonwealth.
Rhode Island	State		2011 Adopted - 6/23/11 Implemented - 8/1/11	Yes	No	Building Code Commission One Capitol Hill Providence, RI 02908 401-222-2000	7/8/11	There are three technical amendments: 210.25, 230.82 and 230.24(A) Ex. No. 5
South Carolina	State Adopted - But with the IRC also prominent.		2008 Adopted - 2/25/09 Implemented - 5/1/09	2006 A - I	Yes, South Carolina allows this code for all one & two family dwelling wiring installations	South Carolina Building Codes Council, 110 Centerview Drive, Room 108 Columbia, South Carolina Gary Wiggins, Administrator	7/8/11	New Plan for the 2011 NEC and 2012 I-Codes. South Carolina will start the review of the 2011 NEC and the 2012 ICC Codes in the fall of 2011 as soon as the ICC Codes are available and will adopt them as a single package including the IRC with its electrical provisions. Note: The SC Building Code Council had approved the 2009 ICC Codes but the legislative LCI Committee threw the 2009 ICC codes out and with them nearly 3 years worth of work.
South Dakota	State		2011 Adopted - 6/7/11 Implemented - 7/1/11	Local Adoption		South Dakota Electrical Commission 308 S. Pierre St. Pierre, SD 57501	7/8/11	The 2011 NEC was adopted and became effective on July 1, 2011 with several minor amendments. However, the AFICI & GFICI amendments that were in place for the 2008 NEC adoption have been deleted for the 2011 NEC.
Tennessee	State, Except for 34 Local Jurisdictions			Yes	No		6/1/11	No real activity has occurred as yet on 2011 NEC adoption. The main reasons for this was the dismissal of Jim Pillow, Deputy Director of Commerce, and the hiring of his successor Gary West, and the firing of the state field inspection head supervisor Marcus Pipkin, and the hiring of his successor Gary Farley, a former Fire Inspector from Murfreesboro, TN. There is some talk of a late summer or early-fall 2011 push for the 2011 NEC with adoption by 1/1/12.
Texas	State Adoption - But Local Jurisdictions May Amend		2011 Adopted - 6/30/11 Implemented - 9/1/11 Note: Only for incorporated areas of the state such as outside the city limits of municipalities.	Basically 2006	Yes, in mostly smaller small inspection jurisdictions. No, in larger jurisdictions will full service inspection departments such as Dallas, Fort Worth, Austin, San Antonio, Houston, Corpus Christi, Amarillo, etc.	Texas Department of Licensing & Regulation P.O. Box 12157 Austin, Texas 78711	7/8/11	The Texas State Electrical Advisory Board met June 30, 2011 to discuss the adoption of the 2011 NEC without amendment. There were no objections so the adoption will move to the Texas Department of Licensing and Regulation Commission for an official vote to become effective September 1, 2011 for all Texas territory outside an incorporated municipality.
Utah	State	All	2008 A - 7 Implemented - 1/1/09	Yes	Utah has adopted the 2006 edition of the IRC thus has the 2005 NEC for dwellings. The State has determined that the IRC will apply for all residential construction, including electrical.	Codes are adopted by the Utah legislature, with the Building Code Commission holding hearings and making recommendations. This is a change instituted only as of 1/1/2010. Prior to this date, the Commission had authority to adopt and implement codes.	6/1/11	While adoption without amendment of the most recent edition of the National Electrical Code benefits all construction in the state because of consistent requirements, there is a point of confusion for dwellings. The State has also adopted the 2006 International Residential Code (IRC) in its entirety, including the electrical chapters. With the 2006 IRC containing the residential requirements from the 2005 NEC, there is inconsistency in technical requirements, as it has been determined that the electrical provisions of the IRC apply to buildings covered under that code. Therefore, a jurisdiction will enforce the 2008 NEC for apartments, condominium, and other multi-family dwellings, but revert to the 2005 NEC provisions found in the 2006 IRC for one-family and two-family dwellings. The Building Codes Division will begin reviewing the 2011 NEC and 2009 "T" Codes for adoption in 2012. The Utah Building Code web site is http://www.dopl.utah.gov/programs/abc/

Vermont	State		2011 Adopted - 7/1/2011 Implemented - 7/1/2011	Yes	No	Department of Public Safety Division of Fire Safety 1311 U.S. Route 302 Suite 500 Barr, VT 05641-2351 802-479-7561	7/8/11	The Code can be viewed online at: http://www.dps.state.vt.us/fire/licensing/Electrical.htm .
Virginia	State Adoption - But See Notes		2008 Adopted - 6/16/10 Implemented - 3/1/11	2009	Yes		6/1/11	2008 NEC is included in the adoption of the Virginia Uniform Building Code, which is basically a book with amendments to referenced ICC Codes and the National Electrical Code. The code adoption is shown only as NFPA 70 in Chapter 27 of the Virginia UBC, with the NEC edition shown in the front of the book under administrative. No adoption of the 2011 NEC should be expected for at least 2 more years.
Washington	State	Cities might have separate electrical ordinances but must be at least as stringent as the State.	2008 A - 7 Implemented - 12/31/08	2006		The electrical (and plumbing) and chapters of the IRC are not adopted. Electrical installations for all structures are governed by the State Electrical Code.	6/1/11	Began enforcement of the 2008 NEC on December 31, 2008. Additionally - On July 1, 2010, the 2008 Editions of the International Building Code, International Residential Code, International Fire Code, International Mechanical Code, Uniform Plumbing Code became effective, along with the 2009 Washington State Energy Code on January 1, 2011. The electrical code is controlled by the State Department of Labor and Industries/Electrical Section, which adopted the 2008 Edition of the National Electrical Code in the fall of 2008, with local amendments. AFCEI is enforced only in bedrooms and not on smoke alarm circuits. Adoption of the 2011 NEC was underway in late 2011, but was suspended until at least mid-2012 because of an Executive Order from the Governor suspending all non-critical rulemaking through 2011. http://www.lni.wa.gov/Trades/Licensing/Electrical/default.asp http://www.afcec.wa.gov/electcode.htm

		Tucson	2005 NEC	Yes, 2000 Edition of the IRC	Yes, Tucson adopts and enforces the electrical provisions of the IRC but with several amendments	The building codes in Tucson are promulgated through ordinance by the elected officials of the city.	11/21/09	On June 12, 2007, Tucson adopted the 2005 Edition of the National Electrical Code®, along with the 2006 Editions of the International Building Code, International Residential Code, International Energy Conservation Code, and International Fuel Gas Code. These codes were adopted by the Mayor and City Council under Ordinance 10417 with an emergency clause, making them effective immediately. Because of the emergency nature of this adoption, there will be a 30-day grace period under which the previous editions of the respective codes will be acceptable at the request of the permit applicant. The grace period will expire on Friday, July 13, 2007. Updated Editions of Plumbing and Mechanical Codes will be presented to the Mayor and Council on July 10, 2007. http://www.tucsonaz.gov/dsd/Codes__Ordinances/codes__ordinances.html
